They are Joe Hess, Carmen Breadner, Ted Sjostrum, Bob McMillan and Father Sullivan. Mrs. F. Gordon is secretary. Detailed arrangements were made for the annual picnic to be held on a Sunday early in July, with Modest Hryciw as manager, and men were appointed to head each committee with the privilege of appointing their own assistants. Posters will soon be out announcing the date and details of this picnic. Plans were made to get the grounds in shape for the big event.

Abolish Radio Fee

The committee enquiring into the status of radio and television in relation to Canadian Arts and Sciences has come up with one astounding discovery. To be certain, they say, radio license fees should not be increased from the present $2.50 per year.

There is a tremendous amount of wasted energy spent in collecting radio license fees that could and should be put to better advantage.

The whole principle of license fees raised from the listeners to support the CBC is a laughable piece of shadow-boxing, anyway. The CBC wants to make it look as though it is an independent corporation kept in business by the monetary support of its "customers". Actually, it is only another branch of the government, and should be paid for out of general funds.

The cost of collecting the $2.50 fees is paid for by another Government branch, the Department of Transport. So the Canadian taxpayer pays in two ways. He pays the tax and he pays for having to pay it.

Listeners find the Radio license fee a bothersome tax that takes from those of low income without any regard to their ability to pay.

The Radio Committee and the Governors of the CBC are in a mess in their duty to the Government of Canada in not recommending total abolishment of the Radio license fee, and in not insisting that the costs of Radio Broadcasting come directly from the general funds of the Government.

Grasshopper Infestation

Grasshopper infestation in Alberta is expected to cover a smaller portion of the province this year, but farmers are urged to be on the lookout for these pests. Hatching should start early this month.

Severe infestations are expected in three areas: one is east of Calgary in the Chancellor district, another around Bancroft north of Youngstown and south of Coronation, and the third around Bodo on the Saskatchewan border south east of Provost.

Moderate infestations may occur around Raymond, Claresholm, Michichi, Drumheller, Hemaruka and Provost. Elsewhere infestation is light or relatively clear.

In Saskatchewan, Hon. I. C. Nollet, provincial minister of agriculture, warned farmers in that province that even though grasshopper infestation is expected to be less than half as severe as last year they should be on the lookout for the pests. It is estimated that Saskatchewan saved $50 million by the control measures used in 1949, and $40 million in 1950. In spite of the savings, however, the dollar loss of the crop due to grasshoppers was placed at $28 million in 1949 and $16,500,000 in 1950.

Nebula Moves Toward the Earth

Astronomers reported ten years ago the discovery of a minute planetary nebula that was speeding toward the earth at the rate of 338,000 miles an hour.

This news may be important to those who live after us but not to the people now on the globe. The nebula is so far away that its light requires 10,000 years to reach the good earth and light, as readers recall, travels 186,000 miles per second.

More remarkable than the discovery of the nebula is the revelation that man has reached the stage of development that enables him to discover facts about his universe and to know what is going on nearly sixty trillion miles from where he lives.

Of course, sixty trillion miles is "walking distance" in the great universe, where our globe spins, but it is the approximate distance that man could travel in ten years if he could fly through space at the speed of light.

Note and Comment

The present generation, we are happy to report, is likely to be an improvement on their predecessors.

Capital, in the form of cash, in this day of income taxation, is not as easy to acquire as it used to be.

If you want to decide anything rightly, consider the long range profit along with the short range gain.

Honesty In The Pulpit

By T. W. PUE

Of all places where we might expect to find an honest expression of opinion it is in the pulpits of our churches. Men who have been called to the ministry, we have always felt, did so from a deep-seated feeling of responsibility to God and their fellow men. The Christian Gospel is one of high responsibility and requires men who are true to the principles for which they stand.

T. W. PUE

Some ministers, however, don't act as though they're "sold" on their product. What would you think of a soap salesman who carried on a sales talk something like this:

"Now, folks, I'm selling this Super-medicore soap. The man who makes this soap is pretty good, but I can't say his product is entirely right. In fact, some things about this soap just are downright false. Some packages are full of good, honest soap. Some are not. The trouble is I can't tell you which are right and which are wrong. You'll make an awful ass of yourself if you think it's all okay. But I wouldn't have any right selling this soap if I didn't tell you I don't believe it's any good."

How much soap do you think a soap salesman would sell with a sales-talk like that? You can be sure, any he sold would be a miracle.

CHRISTIAN DOGMA

Rev. W. G. Berry, assistant secretary of the board of evangelism of the United Church of Canada in Saskatchewan, doesn't believe the Bible. At least there are parts of it that he doesn't believe, and the most pitiful aspect of his Christian career is that he's in a quandary. He doesn't know what parts are true and what parts are false. He disagrees that the Bible is true from Genesis to Revelation and says that the Bible is not factually true. He says factual truth is not important. He says real truth comes through human personality.

What kind of human personality, that amounts to anything, is not "factually true"? What do you think of a person who stands before you and tells you lies? The deliberate liar is a stronger personality than the person who lies in a senseless effort to weave a dream world about them. If the Bible is not factually true, it is not true at all. That makes God a liar and the whole business of religion a farce and a hollow mockery.

If Mr. Berry was selling soap he'd starve to death if he had as much faith in it as he has in the Christian faith he has vowed to promulgate. If this man was true to his principles he would quit the ministry at once and take up an honest means of livelihood such as a soap salesman. That is, if he were convinced in his own mind that the soap deals he had to offer were honest.

INTERPRETATION

In this article I am not finding fault with any interpretation that might be put on any passage of the Bible. A seeker after the truth will, I believe, be inspired with the message that Almighty God has for him in a right study of the Scriptures. Your interpretation may be different to mine, yet if we both believe the Bible to be the Word of God, as members of a Christian faith we are standing on a solid rock.

Then, again, you might not believe the Bible to be anything but an accumulation of fairy tales and if that is all it means to you, brother, respect the beliefs of your fellow-men and continue to seek for the truth to your own satisfaction.

But be honest with yourself. And if you are one who is pledged to uphold the Gospel of Jesus Christ, do not denounce it and condemn its source as a collection of falsehoods. Don't be dishonest with your own convictions. Mr. Berry wouldn't be kept on the payroll of a soap company if he didn't believe in the faithfulness and truthfulness of that company's officials, financial statement and reports. Why should he remain on the payroll of the Christian church when he has no faith in the truth and veracity of the Christian Bible?

A Statement of Policy

(From Camrose Canadian)

So many people have asked us about the road construction progress that we feel justified in asking the highways officials to offer some statement. We haven't changed our own opinion that the contractors piddled away their opportunity in the good weather last fall. Maybe we were too tough on them, but that is the way we saw it. Now we see the interminable drag to get a few miles surfaced on the west of the line, not to mention the Panama canal left running through town.

The Bible Says:

"And he said unto them, Ye are they which justify yourselves before men; but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly esteemed among men is abomination in the sight of God."—St. Luke, 16:15.

International friction like that caused by the Iranian oil crisis is just what the Russian Bear likes best of all. It gives him an opportunity to spread his propaganda and gobble up the deluded victims.

Voice of the People

"VOX POPULI, VOX DEI"

LOVES US; LOVES US NOT

Dear Sir—I'm darn good and mad at you because although you did print a letter of mine a few weeks ago you went and cut it down to two measly sentences. But I'll admit I still like your paper and this real Voice of the People. That isn't soft soap, either; I mean it. I can be sore at you and still like you, can't I?

ANOTHER VOICE.

Edmonton.

NO RIGHT TO GRIBE

Dear Sir—Whenever anyone starts bellyaching to me about the Government I ask the person if he voted in the last election. Invariably the answer is no. Well then, I ask, what are you kicking about? That ends a perfectly useless conversation every time. Try it.

Lac la Biche. OLD FOGEY.

BOB DISSENTS

Dear Sir—A politician who wants to give India grain for free compares that expense with Canada's tobacco and alcohol bill for a year. He says nothing, however, of how much of those expenditures is returned to the government in taxes. Taxes are high enough. If India wants our grain so badly, let them pay, they've got it. I'm just getting tired of supporting the rest of the world.

Sangu. "BOB".

EMPTY STRAW BLUES

Dear Sir—I've heard a lot of complaints over shrinking beer glasses but that's mild compared to the shellacking soda fountains give us. Formerly they served a 15¢ milk shake in a tall glass; now the slickers charge 20¢ for a paper cone cup which holds only half as much as the old glass. Pretty slick, hey?

Edmonton. BOBBY-SOXER.

DOESN'T LIKE GOVT

Dear Sir—With a by-election coming up in Grouard I understand the Social Credit government is doing everything it can to smooth over a lot of mismanagement up there. Now, I don't know what stand your paper takes politically, but I hope you print my letter. I say Social Credit stinks. Clyde. FARMER.

HE HIRES 'EM OLD

Dear Sir—in answer to the letter from "Jobless in last week's paper, I feel I must express my opinion that this man is either lazy or useless if he can't get a job. There are still quite a number of employers anxious to hire men over 45. I have seven men working for me and four of them are over 45.

Edmonton. EMPLOYER.

PROUD NO LONGER

Dear Sir—Any nation that sends her sons to fight and then trades with the enemy is disgraceful. I am of English descent, but that is something I am not very proud of. Today, I now I feel better.

Edmonton. MRS. M. S. S.

A DIFFERENT ANGLE

Dear Sir—Did you never find your Dad's keys, borrow his car and take a gang joyriding? Maybe you swiped some cherries or went salmon fishing out of season in your lovely B.C. town. What happened?

"Wild crime spree" is not the way your Dad spoke of such pranks, Fil bet.

MOTHER OF A TEEN-AGER.

EAT SACRED COWS?

Dear Sir—Many Canadian and American editors are bleating for us to give to India hundreds of millions of bushels of our best wheat. Yet India has an estimated 25 million food-destroying sacred monkeys and 250 million sacred cows and bulls—but still they claim they are hungry. O.K. Let us trade some wheat for Brahman cows and I for one will be only too pleased to get my teeth into some Sacred Cow.

TOM FOULSON.
Reichfort Bridge.

FOR PERMANENT RED

Dear Sir—Why don't they put permanent red lights on all one-way streets in Edmonton? I saw what was very nearly a bad accident at a one-way street last night. Red lights facing the wrong-way drivers would help prevent accidents.

Edmonton. MOTORIST.

WANTS PAPER ON TIME

Dear Sir—I want you to know how much I enjoy your paper. Having been a visitor to your fair town this past spring, I find myself looking longingly for the arrival of your paper, and was disappointed I am when it does not arrive on time, as has been the case the past three weeks. Boo Hoo Hoo, my paper is three days late.

MRS. F. W. ROBERTS.
Brandon.

FAITH IN GOD

Dear Sir—So somebody says Premier Manning is a liar because he believes the word of God. The Bible is true from cover to cover, as every good Christian knows. Premier Manning is a God-fearing man and Alberta is fortunate to have such a goodly man as its leader. We need more faith in God, and less criticism of His Word. I enjoy your paper.

Five New Projects In Cancer Research Get Underway at University of Alberta

(By British United Press)

Five projects in fundamental cancer research are being carried out at the University of Alberta.

Dr. Reuben B. Sandin, professor of chemistry, is preparing compounds closely related chemically to substances which have an important effect on the growth of cancer cells. His work concerns two types of compounds — those which act upon some factors of animal cells to start uncontrolled division and growth — that is, cancer; and those which under experimental conditions, have the effect of slowing down growth of cancerous tissue.

SECRETS OF CELLS

By varying slightly the chemical constituents of a large number of similar laboratory-produced compounds, and by observing their biological effects on experimental animals, Sandin hopes to learn more about the factors in the chemicals or in the cells which start or inhibit cancerous growth.

Sandin, who is assisted by students who have graduated in chemistry, describes his results as "most interesting." Biological testing of the compounds created at the University of Alberta is carried on at the University of Wisconsin.

In another project here, Dr. H. E. Rawlinson, professor of anatomy, and Dr. Jules Tuba, assistant professor of biochemistry, have shown that the iron content of breast cells of strains of mice susceptible to mammary cancer differs greatly from the iron content of similar cells of mice resistant to that type of cancer. Dr. Rawlinson has developed staining techniques and other methods of analysis to determine the quantitative difference.

LAKES STOCKED WITH FISH

About 1,125,000 fish eggs have been put into Alberta lakes so far this year, the Fisheries Branch reports. They include about 955,000 northern pike eggs and 180,000 rainbow trout. Plantings include 85,000 trout eggs near McGrath, 260,000 northern pike near Hanna, and 275,000 northern pike near Lethbridge.

WORK VARIED

Tuba is seeking a relationship between the iron content of breast tissue and the respirator enzymes in that tissue.

Dr. Harold Rice, professor of physiology, is working on a project based on the characteristic of cancer patients to develop anemia.

He is trying to isolate from the body fluids of anemic cancer patients the substance which causes this secondary condition.

CARPENTERS working on a huge pig hatchery at Dawson Creek, B.C., will soon complete a plant which will revolutionize the hog raising industry in Alberta. Capacity of the plant is 250 sows, and hundreds of pigs a month will be distributed to farmers.

Hatchery to Revolutionize Hog Raising Industry

A revolution in the hog raising industry in Alberta and elsewhere may be caused by a mass-production pig hatchery being built at Dawson Creek, in northeastern B.C.

Within four months the first unit of the Peace River Pig Hatchery will be in operation.

Already one wing of the proposed four-wing hatchery building is up. According to the manager of the hatchery, Ted Hawley, the building is probably the largest hog raising unit on the continent.

Each wing will be 44 by 300 feet and will rise three stories. When completed the unit will have a summer farrowing capacity of 1,000 sows per month. Weanlings pigs will be marketed to farmers every month during the year.

The building was designed by Mr. Hawley after years of personal experience in operation of his own hatchery and through study of other hog raising units.

The third floor will hold feed and bedding material. On the second floor there will be a battery of farrowing crates and on the ground floor a series of ordinary pens for older pigs and their dams.

Farmers in Minnesota, Iowa and South Dakota now hold stock in the co-operative, built to accommodate the tremendous demand for the Yorkshire weanling pigs. American offices are being maintained at LeMars, Ia., and at Tracy, Minn.

The first shipment of the weanlings arrived at LeMars a few weeks ago, with around 280 pigs distributed to hog raisers in nearby communities. General approval has been expressed on the condition of the pigs on arrival and on their thriftiness.

The Canadian hatchery, which dwarfs many similar hatcheries now being started in the United States has several distinct advantages, Mr. Hawley said.

Labor saving devices enable one man to handle 250 sows in each one of the wings. Mr. Hawley expects to employ four caretakers and one supervisor for the 1,000 sow unit.

A central feed house and elevator at the junction of the four wings will shuttle feed by conveyor belts to various spots in the wings. Automatic gutter conveyors will also handle manure and deposit it in pits outdoors.

The buildings will be insulated with sawdust to withstand winter cold spells and an electric ventilation system will control temperature and humidity.

EATING HABITS

The person who wolfs his food invariably is a hard-driving, impatient individual, while the light-eater generally is high-strung. The American Magazine reports as a result of a two-year study of eating habits.

Miss Edna Cinnamon Widely Feted Prior To Her Wedding

GIBBONS. — Several hostesses entertained at their homes recently in honor of Miss Edna Cinnamon, whose wedding day is set for next Saturday, June 16.

She worked the past four years at the law office of Milner & Steer as private secretary, and relinquished her secretarial work there last Thursday, and is now at her home in Gibbons. On May 25 she was given a miscellaneous shower by the Milner-Steer office staff, who all met at the home of Mrs. Inglis Bonar. There were twenty co-workers present. Many lovely gifts were given the bride-to-be.

Miss Marjorie Marcott, Miss Bernice Loblick and the Gibbons girls also gave a miscellaneous shower at their suite in Edmonton on the evening of May 28. There were ten girl friends present, and Edna received many useful gifts. Mrs. Ralph Harrison of 9911 106 St., Edmonton, invited numerous friends to her home on May 30 for a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Cinnamon, who received many beautiful gifts.

On June 11 Miss Edna was feted by the many ladies and girl friends in Gibbons at the Gibbons Community Hall. A good crowd of friends gathered, and Miss Edna again received many lovely presents. Mrs. J. Hoeg and Mrs. W. Derosia were hostesses.

On Wednesday evening, June 13, Mrs. Hector McCrimmon of Notre Dame was hostess to Miss Cinnamon at a shower.

'Granny' Nelson Celebrates At 83 received many beautiful and useful gifts and cards from her relatives and friends.

Among the guests was an old friend, "Granny" Meyers of Freedom, whom she had not seen for many years, and they enjoyed visiting together.

LETTER TO LOUISA

Unchaperoned Girl Shouldn't Attend Mixed Beach Party

Dear Louisa—A group of young people in our school have planned a house-party at the beach and here at the last minute our chaperones are unable to go.

Do you think it would be all right for us to go without them?
We have already paid for the cottage and we are all well behaved. My mother is horrified at the idea.

What do you think about it?

Answer:

I think your mother is right in not wanting you to go without a chaperone — not because she doesn't trust you to behave but for what people might think and say about you.

Really it is not wise for boys and girls to be living in a house together without someone in authority — particularly at a beach where clothing and all things are so informal.

While five of the girls and boys might conduct themselves perfectly, there might be one or two who are weaker or wilder than the others and who will do things they wouldn't do if there were a chaperone to call a halt.
Then the whole party would get a bad name for the actions of one or two.

Try to get someone to chaperone. Surely you can find some married woman who will help out or some young married couple who would like a holiday.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa — I live in an old-fashioned house and have two small children. I do all the work and, naturally, I have very little time to read or go anywhere.

I have been trying to get my husband to buy me a washing machine, as I feel that would give me more time and freedom, but he doesn't like the idea.
Yet he buys tractors and every farm help that comes on the market.

Don't you think that is unfair?

TIRED.

Answer:

If he had to wash clothes at a scrub board one or two weeks,
I imagine he would like the idea fine. Certainly, if he can afford all kinds of new farm machinery, he can afford a few conveniences to make your work lighter. With a washing machine you don't have to have any set day for laundry and you and the children can do with less clothes — a drier relieves you from hanging out heavy pieces and you can do cotton rugs in a jiffy.

I have a friend who also has an ironer and who says her laundry is now the least of her problems.

LOUISA.

Oil Royalty Boost Will Make Province Millions

A new oil royalty schedule put into effect in Alberta last week will boost average royalty from producing wells to 14 per cent from about 10 per cent.

The new royalty schedule announced by Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of mines and minerals, will be retroactive to June 1. It is expected to increase provincial revenue by several million dollars annually.

Based on a sliding scale from five per cent on wells with a monthly production of 600 barrels to 16 2/3 per cent on wells with a production of 6,750 barrels, the schedule is believed to be the only one of its kind in the world as it gives the smaller producers "a break."

The schedule replaces one which has been in effect for the past 10 years. It was worked out by the provincial department of mines and minerals after officials received representations from oil concerns on the raise.

During 1950 the provincial government received $4,750,000 in royalties on petroleum and natural gas. There has been no official estimate of what the new schedule will mean in dollars to the province. Alberta's daily production at present is about 150,000 barrels daily, about double that of last year.

The manner of calculation of the new royalty has been simplified, according to officials, by eliminating the square root system and the number of days in the month no longer enters into the calculation.

In terms of daily production the new royalties are:

1. A straight royalty of 12 1/2 per cent on any well producing between 50 and 60 barrels a day.
2. A gradual decrease on wells producing less than 50 barrels daily until the minimum royalty of 5 per cent is reached at 20 barrels daily.
3. A gradual increase in wells producing more than 60 barrels a day until the maximum royalty of 16 2/3 per cent is obtained at 135 barrels daily.

Modern

On a building a plaque had been affixed to perpetuate the memory of a famous writer who had lived and died there.

After the ceremony, two 'men of letters' went off together.
"I say, old boy," said the first, "do you think they'll put a plaque outside my house when I die?"

"Why, surely."
"What do you think they'll put on it?"
"Room To Let."

Irene Fizer Weds L. Novlesky In Afternoon Rites

CLYDE—Teresa Irene Fizer of Clyde became the bride of Lawrence Novlesky of Sexsmith in an afternoon ceremony at McLaurin Baptist Church, Grande Prairie, Tuesday, May 22.

Entering the church with Joe Benoit, her employer, the bride looked lovely in a navy blue gabardine suit with a white picture hat and white accessories.

The bridesmaid, Alice O'Dara, chose a brown gabardine suit, set off by pink accessories.

Bob Lott supported the groom.

Rev. T. Elgar Roberts performed the ceremony, while E. H. Croft played the wedding march. During the signing of the register Laura Biesel sang "The Love of God", accompanied by Inez Novlesky.

A reception followed at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Novlesky, where approximately fifty friends and relatives were entertained at a wedding supper. The wedding table was centred with a lovely two-tiered wedding cake flanked by bouquets of larkspur.

Mr. Charles Stojan proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom made a suitable response.
